Please visit our website to meet the consultants (BCBAs and clinical psychologist).

We are also pleased to present a new Online Program Development Resource (PDR) for individuals with autism and other developmental disabilities. The online PDR has been developed to change the operation of school-based, home-based, and center-based behavior intervention programs, by offering a cost-effective way for systematizing and simplifying the process of curriculum development for individualized educational programs. A video is available online which provides an overview of this service at <http://www.abacsllc.memberlodge.org/Default.aspx?pageId=146703>. The video is just under 17 minutes and illustrates some of the basic ways the PDR will save staff time developing and maintaining curricula, associated prompt and data collection systems, data summary systems, and graphic displays of data. I hope you have a chance to watch the video, and I welcome the opportunity to communicate with you further regarding this service and how it may benefit you and your students.

Spectrum Intervention Group

www.spectrumig.com

613-723-0606

19 Grenfell, Suite 100

Spectrum offers a centre-based program which is similar to an individual home ABA program. After an initial assessment, we will match the needs of the child with one of our trained instructor/therapists. Close supervision by trained professionals is essential to ensuring a good quality/effective intervention program. Our programs are supervised by Senior Therapists Jackie Chretien, B.Ed., Emily Collins, B.A., and Jon Pehleman M. Ed., as well as Clinical Supervisors, Lynne Thibodeau, M.Ed and Kristen Copeland, BCBA, MA. You can read more about their extensive experience and qualifications by clicking on the "Staff" button.

Spectrum's primary objective is to provide individualized programming using ABA principles and procedures, to children with ASD, in order to increase their cognitive and social abilities in the home, school and community. ABA programs that take into account Skinner's analysis of verbal behaviour (commonly referred to as "VB programs"), are at the core of Spectrum's programs. Our knowledgeable and well-trained staff develop and provide individualized programs based on each child's needs. Programming is delivered consistent with the effective teaching procedures (such as developing instructional control, fading in number, effort and difficulty of demands, maintaining a quick pace, delivering reinforcement immediately, and teaching to fluency) noted in Dr. Vince Carbone's workshop series.

At Spectrum, our aim is always to help each child reach his/her potential. Our goals for each child enrolled in our intensive intervention programs, include an individualized combination of social, speech and language, cognitive, fine motor, gross motor, play skills and academic skills.

Please contact us at 613-613-723-0606 for more information on our intensive intervention programs, or you can e-mail us at info@spectrumig.com

Parent Counselling

www.OttawaPsychotherapy.com

613-729-4478

Parenting special needs children is a life commitment that takes special determination, stamina and a willing, open heart. At every turn, the emotional issues of grief and sorrow, guilt, isolation and burn-out can threaten to de-rail family and personal life and the struggle to maintain some daily sense of home and routine-living -- which so often seems out of reach. Men and women, husbands and wives, coping with the pressures of raising special needs children, themselves need emotional support, healing relation, compassion and insightful dialogue in what is not only a challenging, but also in so many ways, poignant, heartfelt and rewarding journey.

Dr. Sanford Siegel is a therapist and counselor now in private practice in Ottawa, who combines a professional and personal background and expertise wholly relevant to providing this kind of emotional support and guidance to men and women parenting children with special needs.

Before arriving in Ottawa, Dr. Siegel conducted a successful full-time therapy and counseling private practice in Vancouver for 12 years. In his practice, he saw adults from all walks of life dealing with a wide range of psychological issues including relationship crisis and difficulty, addiction recovery, depression, and the impact of childhood and family issues in adulthood. Dr. Siegel is also the parent of a daughter diagnosed with juvenile diabetes at age 3 1/2 and the stepfather of a son with autism.

As such, in the person and practice of Dr. Siegel, professional and life experience come together to provide an informed, caring approach to dealing with the challenges, dilemmas and personal growth opportunities, which are such an intimate part of raising special needs kids. The office is centrally located in Westboro on Danforth Avenue behind the Mountain Equipment Co-op.

Picture Card Communication Marion Pusey www.picturecardcommunication.com 825-4803

I create and make personalized/individualized visual resources and educational materials for people affected by Autism and their families, teachers, therapists, etc.

I can make visual cards, puzzles, visual schedules, matching materials, visual step-by-step check lists, etc. I use pictures of the items, foods, activities and places to make up the cards, etc.

If you have pictures of your child's own specific needs ie. items, family members, foods, activities and places, I can use these to further personalize his/her visual cards.

Children with autism understand pictures far more easily if taken from their own environment. I can use other picture sources such as the internet or pictures that I have already.

I scan the pictures into my computer then work with the pictures. I will delete backgrounds in the pictures to remove any distraction from the item you want your son or daughter to concentrate on. I can add word descriptions (one or two words) under each picture using the exact words that you would use with your son. The pictures are then sized to the size you need, then they are printed out and laminated.

The laminated picture cards can be used and would have adaptations made depending on how you would like to use them:

- the visual cards can have velcro attached for use on a velcro work board (which I also make) which can be kept in a binder for easy access.
- the visual cards can have a magnet attached so they can be used as refrigerator magnets
- the visual cards can be used on a key chain. This provides for a "hands free", easy access (because these key chains can be attached to your belt loop), portable communication system which can be used anywhere.

I also discovered and make laminated, letter-sized cards with pictures, the alphabet, child's photo and name, etc to be used with washable markers. This way your son can learn to "colour, colour match, learn to print his own name, learn to print the alphabet, etc." This also could help him or her with his or her fine motor skills.

Products:

1. Toileting, hand washing, bedtime sequence
2. Choice boards:
 - outings eg. McDonald's, Canadian Tire, Toys R Us, Loblaws, Wal-Mart, Zellers
 - park, bicycle, trampoline
 - snacks
 - pre-school and school activities
 - Emotions (no thermometer) - "I feel .."
3. Picture key chains - to attach to belt loops for easy and quick access.
4. Dressing Program: for Spring, Summer, Fall, Winter, rain and bed-time.
5. Puzzles - farm animals (full colour cartoon)
 - "5 Little Monkeys"
6. Visual Schedules: hand washing, brushing teeth, toileting, dressing, bedtime, pre-school and school
7. Emotions - choice board with "I feel."
 - emotion thermometers
8. Visual materials to support ABA/IBI Programs:
 - numbers, colours, shapes, alphabet
9. Visuals to support "Social Stories"
 - birth of a sibling
 - telephone etiquette
10. Learning materials:
 - alphabets - block letters and cursive letters with upper and lower case
 - alphabet letters are all single cards good for learning the alphabet and pairing with pictures to learn spelling.
 - clocks - to teach time with both regular and digital clocks

Assistance for Children with Severe Disabilities

613-788-2399

A program for families making less than $60,000 gross income per year to help with the additional costs of raising a child with a disability. Related to this is the Fitness Tax Credit, good up until the year the child turns 18, consistent with other federal tax measures targeted to children with disabilities. As well, the Income Tax Act will be amended to introduce an additional $500 non-refundable amount for DTC-eligible children subject to spending a minimum of $100 on registration fees for an eligible program.

This additional non-itemizable amount recognizes the extra costs that children with disabilities may encounter in participating in programs of physical activity, notably with regard to specialized equipment, transportation and attendant care.

Disability Tax Credit

You will need the original T2201 (Disability Tax Credit Certificate). Please check the website for details.

For back-dating disability tax credits (taken from their website): By mail: Send both of the following to your <http://www.cra-arc.gc.ca/tax/individuals/faq/t1filingaddress-e.html> tax centre:

a completed form:

Adjustment Request, or a signed letter providing the details of your request (including the years of the returns you want us to change), your social insurance number, an address, and a telephone number where we can reach you during the day; and supporting documents for the changes you want to make and, if you have not sent them to us before, supporting documents for your original claim.

Note: Previously, you could request adjustments to returns for 1985 or subsequent tax years. Under proposed legislation, after December 31, 2004, only requests relating to tax years ending in any of the 10 calendar years before the year you make the request, will be considered. For example, a request made in 2005 must relate to the 1995 or a subsequent tax year to be considered.

It is better to claim this tax credit under the parent (or similar to parent) with higher income because it may reduce his/her Ontario surtax. Please remember this credit is non-refundable, which means you won't be refunded more than the tax you paid for the tax year.

Over a dozen working groups bring parents and representatives from health, social services, education and recreation together on specific projects aimed at making a difference and improving services. The Steering Committee of 32 members represents a range of disciplines and geographic communities and provides strategic directions and critical information sharing. The NETWORK has proven itself to be a mechanism through which opportunities for better service delivery and integration can be both identified and created.*

Ottawa Children's Coordinated Access and Referral to Services

Special Needs Committee

Coordinated Access is a case resolution mechanism designed to provide recommendations and referrals for families, children and youth who have complex needs and are experiencing difficulties gaining access to support and services in the community. The role of Coordinated Access is to offer assistance in the form of recommendations (not direct services) in an attempt to resolve difficult situations. Case resolution is offered through the Coordinated Access committees comprised of various professionals whose agencies provide services in the Ottawa region. Coordinated Access has a Francophone and Anglophone committee to provide assistance to clients in their language of choice.

Who refers people to Coordinated Access?

Community agencies and other professionals make referrals to Coordinated Access. Their role is to assist families with the preparation needed to put together a presentation before a Coordinated Access committee. The submitting agency will gather all the documentation needed and help families fill out the Coordinated Access application form. They will also prepare the presentation to the committee. However, it is strongly recommended that parents/guardians remain actively involved in the application process and participate in the presentation. The submitting agency is also responsible to forward the recommendations of the committee to the family and assist them with their implementation.

Who is eligible to be presented to the Coordinated Access committee?

Coordinated Access is designed to assist children with a developmental delay who have complex needs and their families. These children and/or families must be able to demonstrate that they have attempted to use various community services, but have been unsuccessful in their attempts to resolve their current difficulties. In other words, Coordinated Access is designed to assist only those people whose needs have not been met by existing community services.

Ottawa Resolution Service for Adults with a Development Disability

This is a relatively new service for an adult with a development disability who:

is at serious and imminent risk of harm to him/herself or others, and is unable to access services; or is at risk of family breakdown, if supports and services are not provided; or is at risk of receiving a more intrusive response in the absence of supports; or requires support that is beyond the current capacity of an individual agency and/or the service system. (Source: Because you asked ...

Questions and Answers about the Ottawa Resolution Service, a publication of Citizen Advocacy, also available in French.)

This is not a crisis service; it is, rather, a community based problem-solving service where all options appear to have been tried and exhausted.

The Resolution Service operates through Citizen Advocacy on Parkdale, 613-761-9522.

Social Network for Youth

This is a social skills building program for individuals with developmental delays. We organize weekly gatherings for youth wanting to socialize in a casual environment with the support of facilitators. The group has a mixture of individuals with different developmental delays (Asperger's, autism, brain injuries, Down Syndrome..etc) but all benefit from increased social interactions. The age range is 13-21 (youth group) and over 21 for the graduate club. The organization is bilingual. The activities are once a week and vary depending on member requests. They are usually from 6:30-8:30pm and Tuesdays for the youth group. Activities include crafts, bowling, Midway, movies, dinner, BBQ, Ottawa 67's games or whatever the members are interested in. Activities are located across Ottawa and locations are easily accessible by bus. The cost is $50 for a yearly membership but interested individuals are welcome to attend a few outings to see if they would be interested in joining. The ratio is about 3 facilitators for 10-30 members so individuals must be fairly independent (some members attend with D.S.W staff). An informal assessment is done through observation of individual's interaction with other members. You can contact Mike Souillere or Isabelle MacNider for the francophone program at 237-0113 (snforyouth@hotmail.com) for more information and a recorded message about the next scheduled activity.

The Youth Empowerment & Transition Program assists youth with all/cross disabilities in the Ottawa area in achieving their personal goals of independence. The program is particularly for youth 16 to 25 years old and focuses on empowerment and transition, therefore we offer a variety of activities including skills workshops, healthy eating, physical activities, and social outings. The program also provides support for those individuals who are dealing with transition, for example high school to college/university/work or living with parents/caretakers to living on your own. The skills and encouragement resulting from such a program will ultimately aid young adults to pursue an autonomous lifestyle in concordance with the Independent Living Movement.
